

Structure your client's business with confidence

Why choosing the right company registration and legal document provider really matters

The devil is in the detail

We understand the importance of looking good in front of your clients. That's why our experienced staff members ensure your legal documents are error-free, double checked, t's crossed and i's dotted – saving you headaches and costs down the line.

But that's really just the beginning in how we consistently ensure your clients (and you) are being kept happy...

Have you really thought about what your legal risks are?

All legal documents carry with them some degree of legal risk for you as an adviser as well as for your clients. This risk can come in the form of non-compliance with government or regulatory bodies – which can lead to penalties, or in other forms such as potential litigation from disgruntled clients or beneficiaries.

In order to ensure you and your clients are protected against such legal risks, it is important that the business structure documentation you utilise is reviewed and prepared by an actually qualified lawyer with experience in this area.

This is exactly what you get when you order a trust, SMSF, or deed of amendment document online at ABNAustralia.com.au. Not only do our lawyers ensure your documentation complies with the appropriate legislative and tax office requirements, they also ensure your documents are structured and maintained in line with the latest industry innovations.

Significantly, our legal partners assume the risk and responsibility for the documents it signs off – not you.

This greatly mitigates any action that can be taken against you in relation to the documentation that you provide your clients (for example in circumstances where the deed is deemed as non-compliant with the law).

A family business that understands the value of old-fashioned customer service

Our team has been providing affordable business registration and legal document services since 1976. Our longevity reflects our reputation for the best customer service in the business, underpinned by our commitment to effective documentation and attention to detail.

Our goal is to partner with accounting firms who understand the value of an informed business registration and legal document provider. So why not try placing your next order online with us at ABNAustralia.com.au, and experience for yourself the difference in service that our existing customers have come to expect.

Contact us today to discuss our comprehensive range of business registration and legal document services

1300 226 226 | contact@abnaustralia.com.au | abnaustralia.com.au/partner